*You won't get rich investing in Good Samaritan Ministries.
You'll get something better.
Much better.*

Dear Pastor & Congregation,

If we were a money-making business, I would write to you occasionally to tell you how much money you have made. But you are not an investor to earn money. You want to help people.

Joe is someone you've helped. If you heard his life story, you would be shocked to know people actually live like he did, just a few miles from here. For years his daily routine was to remain drunk, even when it cost him his family, his job, his health and his self-respect.

And yet, I recently saw him sitting quietly with a young man here who is new to Good Samaritan Ministries. They were discussing Jesus and the Bible. Joe was telling the young man how to live a good life, and the young man was listening.

A few months ago, they could have been together under a bridge sharing a bottle of cheap liquor. Today, they are discussing how to live right. Isn't that an amazing change of heart!

Joe credits the Lord. He finished his studies and training here at Good Samaritan Ministries and now is on staff at GSM, working our front desk. Joe's new passion is reaching the lost for Christ through his tithe and the support of local missions. He is saving money to support his family.

You may have thought your gifts just provide a meal and a bed for a homeless person in hard times. The truth is, you do much more. You help people from all walks of life get down on their knees and thank God for a new start.

You may not get financially rich investing in people at Good Samaritan Ministries, but you surely make Heaven glad! You help make this world a better place. May God bless you for that ... and that is something better. Much better.

In His and Your Service,

Dr. Michael D. McClary
Executive Director
