Dear Praying Friends,

November 2025

Living in an apartment within a neighborhood has been a great blessing, but it is sometimes a bit of a challenge as well. It has given me a community of families and children to build friendships with and children to start a Bible club; yet, it also means that I have a lot of neighborhood children knocking on my door throughout the day during their holidays from school, which makes getting my own work done a challenge. One day during their last school break, I stopped my work to answer a knock, being prepared to tell the children that they'd have to come back later. Two visiting friends had come along with one of my Bible clubbers. When they saw I was occupied, they were disappointed and said, "Awww...we want to be saved, but you are too busy!" All of a sudden, I realized I wasn't so busy after all! That day, the young girl was saved, and the next day, her brother got saved. I was amazed! They came every day that they were visiting in our neighborhood to learn a little more about their new life in Christ. This experience was another reminder to hold my plans loosely and to stay flexible for a change in priorities!

In reviewing this year, I am so grateful to see how the Lord has worked in expanding existing ministries and starting new ones. One new ministry for the upcoming year is a Bible club in a third school! It was an amazing day watching the Lord work out details: the headmaster was available and interested in the Bible Club. He very quickly agreed we could start the program when school reopened in January.

It is a blessing to see souls that have been saved this year, and those who are in various stages of their growth: some have been baptized, discipled, and are starting to reach out to others. I think the most encouraging thing has been to see new teachers from different churches who have been trained in children's ministries!

Thank you for another year of prayers for people you haven't met in a country you haven't been to so that they can spend eternity with you in Heaven! Thank you for your prayers for protection, health, and wisdom for me! Thank you also for working to reach others in your areas! I keep a prayer list of churches and keep you all in my prayers as well, as you minister to those around you. The "climate" and the "soil" in our areas may be different, but the Seed we sow and the One Who gives the increase is the same!

May the Lord greatly bless you!

In His service,

Erica Bohman
