Greetings! A lot has happened in the past two months. We took a short trip to America for the purpose of seeing OUR NEW GRANDDAUGHTER!!

Yep. We are grandparents now. It's awesome.

RUMBLE

TRUTH

She's growing like a weed and generally just being about the cutest baby I've ever seen (I might be a tad biased there). Children are treasures. Children's children even more so.

We blew into town on September 5. Got over to Alabama with Ethan and Jules just in time for the birth (what a blessing). Then down to Pensacola to pick up our car, see our college kids and other children. Then over to Tampa for a missions conference. Then BACK to Pensacola for another missions conference. One week to catch our breath, get some beach therapy (it's a thing). Then back to Alabama for more grandbaby cuddles and a meeting in Tuscaloosa. Then over to Tennessee to see James and Jane and her family. Then up to St. Louis to visit our family and to vote. Then back to Pensacola to drop off the car again. Then finally to Atlanta on October 11 and back to Uganda. Phew.

It's good to be home.

Pray for America. Then make sure you vote. Either vote early or vote on the day, but get it done. Vote for Donald Trump. If we lose this election, we lose the Republic. That is not an exaggeration. The Democrats have become the party of pure Satanic evil. They must be stopped. Voting is how we accomplish this, short of revolution. I cannot emphasize enough how important this Election is. I am praying and fasting for all of you. It is that serious.

God bless you. God bless America.
